NWCT EDUCATIONAL GUIDES

NWCT's free, online educational guides are a great tool for families who want to know more about a mainstage show, with detailed synopses, information about playwrights, interviews with featured actors, and discussion questions. Here are excerpts from the educational guide for The Devil and Daniel Webster:

ABOUT THE AUTHOR—Stephen Vincent Benét was a well-known and popular writer of American poetry and stories. Born in 1898 in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania...

SHOW SYNOPSIS—Jabez Stone wants nothing more than to earn enough money and marry his sweetheart. Unfortunately, he suffers from an unending stream of bad luck. One day, when things seem particularly hopeless, he declares: "It's enough to make a man sell his soul to the Devil...!"

SOURCES—The Devil and Daniel Webster is based on the old German legend of Faust, about a man who seeks knowledge...

Education guides are available one month prior to a show's opening. Click here to download now!

WINTER CLASSES FILLING FAST!

There's still time to enroll your young performer in a winter class at NWCT! Choose from titles like "Beginning Voice and Dance," "Intermediate Acting," "Backstage" and "Broadway Basics—the Music of ABBA!" Click here for a full class schedule and registration form.

NWCT REACHES OUT!

Having NWCT at your school is easier than you think! Customized in-class residencies, after school programming, and discount tickets are affordable, and available all year round. Click here to contact NWCT Outreach Coordinator Tiffany Morris for more information.
